

INSIGHT

WTC COMMUNITY WEEKLY

Basic Supplies Kit

- Water
- Non-perishable food
- Cash in local currency
- Phones, batteries, chargers
- Portable lightings
- First aid kit and medicine
- Whistle, paper and pen
- Masks and hand sanitizer
- Antiseptic and disinfecting wipes
- Clothes and toiletries
- Sleeping bag or blanket
- Utensils and paper cups
- Infant formula, bottles, diapers, rash cream, telon
- Pet food

Pack at least a 3-day worth of these items and store them in your nearest exits

Case of Emergency

If your house got flooded last weekend, well... you're not alone. It was my second time in the past two years and I did pick up some lessons from the first.

The main priority was to make sure everyone in the house was safe. Then, I secured all the important documents such birth certificates, passports, family card, bank details etc, shut off power and moved electronics to higher grounds. Next, I looked for my emergency case.

We don't know when disasters are going to strike, so it is highly essential and recommended to have it ready and available at a moment's notice. It's never too early.

Have you packed yours?

Yours trully,
the community editor