GOLD FOR WTC COMPLEX

Are you familiar with a green building?

It is a holistic concept that starts with the understanding that the built environment can have profound effects, both positive and negative, on the natural environment, as well as the people who inhabit buildings every day. The design, construction and operation of “Green Buildings” is also widely acknowledged as a solution to negate global climate change.

Various Green Building certification programs have been developed and implemented worldwide, aiming to help developers and operators be environmentally responsible and use resources efficiently. The two most popular ones in Jakarta are the local GreenSHIP and Singapore’s Building and Construction Authority (BCA) Green Mark.

All five of our WTC buildings have received BCA Green Mark Gold Certification. This award recognises our efforts to encourage sustainable design practices, as well as our commitment and dedication in creating a greener environment with excellent energy efficiency that meets the sustainability standards.
