AL FRESCO DINING AT WTC COMPLEX

As a tropical country, Indonesia only has two seasons: rainy and dry. And if you notice, lately we have been having a gloomier sky, a little bit of drizzle and heavy, pouring rain. Normally the wet, rainy season would start from November to March. And the dry one is April to October. I'd personally prefer the first.

To make the most of this lovelier weather, why not take your lunch out and dine on WTC's new outdoor dining?

Located near the WTC 3 assembly point, the area remains a non-smoking zone reserved for dining only. You can access the area by exiting the main lobby from WTC 3 or take a little detour from our retail area at WTC 2 (and grab some food for the al fresco while you are there!), go through Harvest Cakes and turn left after Fore Coffee.

Please remember to not leave your belongings unattended and dispose all trash in the waste bins.

The clear blue sky and lush green area also make a great photo backdrop, by the way. So be sure to tag us on Instagram @wtc.jakarta!
