No Trick, Just Treat

Halloween is not big in Indonesia.

In western world, it is one of the most popular celebrations; observed by at least 26 countries.

Children are especially fond of it, thanks to the customary trick-or-treating which involves candies.

And just like them, this time around, I think we could all use a little treat.

If you live alone, call up your friends and set up a virtual costume party or pumpkin carving contest. Up the game with a fun bet or prize.

If you have kids at home, have them decorate their rooms and plant clues around the house for a scavenger hunt. It will keep them entertained, occupied and happy.

But if you're like me, just make yourself comfortable, microwave some popcorn and do a horror movie marathon. The point is to treat yourself, because we simply don't need another spooky thing happening this year, do we?

Yours trully,
